

ROBLIN HOUSE

Dear Friends,

Brilliant summer days filled with light and colour have inspired me as I embark on another exploratory journey with paint and canvas! My lifelong dream of designing and building a home incorporating a studio has come to fruition. What a delight for me to be working in this beautiful space with the Northern light urging me on in my creative pursuits. I will send images of the new work as it manifests!

The Park Plaza project in Naples, Florida demanded all my skill. There are now 93 Roblin paintings on aluminum panels and canvas on view throughout this garden complex. I'm grateful to architect, Jenny Carter, who commissioned me to do the art for the Park Plaza, and who championed me throughout the whole process. Jenny represents my work in South-West Florida. You're invited to visit her showroom to see her Roblin collection.

'YANTRA' ACRYLIC ON ALUMINUM 4x40"x40" PARK PLAZA PROJECT

This Spring (2007), my work was featured in an exhibition at the Bermuda National Gallery. The painting was the maquette for a 19' x 9' painting commissioned by XL Corporation, Bermuda. I'd like to thank my friends and contacts who made my visits to Bermuda so productive and congenial. In particular, the brilliant architect Peter Schinning, opened many doors for me. Peter and his talented architect wife, Heather Spinney, are now living and working in Victoria. What an asset for the West Coast design scene! Renowned Montreal designer Jean-Michel Laberge, has incorporated numerous Roblin paintings into his new residence. Jean-Michel is in high demand for his multi-faceted talent. He has encouraged the development of 'ARTWALK' Roblin Rugs, by commissioning several pieces for his clients. Jean-Michel can be reached at www.jeanmichelaberge.com

A contemporary loft space in Montreal, designed and built for two of my all-time favourite collectors, Colette and Barry Dolman, was featured on 'House and Home' television. The Dolmans collection of Roblin art is extensive and will soon also include several custom designed area rugs from my new 'ARTWALK' Roblin Rugs venture.

I am continuing my practice of collaborating with architects and designers. Robert Ledingham, the pre-eminent Vancouver modernist designer, has included several of my 'Bermuda Boogie' series paintings in a San Francisco project. www.ledingham.com

'BERMUDA BOOGIE' LEDINGHAM PROJECT

My friend and patron Tony Elian has the largest personal collection of my art. He is currently renovating a landmark building on The Boulevard in Montreal into unique residences. The architect for the project is Ezio Riva of Milan, who has provided an inspired design filled with light. I have been commissioned to create the artwork. What an extraordinary opportunity to once again create with this very talented group. I am currently producing new works of art in my Vancouver Island studio for this remarkable project. My Toronto art dealer Marcia Rafelman Fine Arts is currently showing several paintings from my 'ICON' series in her new exhibition called, PAINT. The Marcia Rafelman Fine Arts website is www.mrfinearts.com. Marcia will be showing my art at the Toronto International Art Fair.

Icon Series 'OM' 90"x72" 2002

My 'Icon' paintings refer to eternal formations. These paintings implicate primary forms and colours in relationships of balance and equipoise. The intention is to prompt contemplation on these forms in order to transcend their actuality and realize the essential nature of creation itself. When we probe the mystery of our own inspirations we open ourselves to our inner luminosity. Intuition will guide us to a place of peacefulness through the purity of these forms.

Without the passionate interest and sustaining power of my collectors, there would be very little to share. It is only through your energetic support and referrals that I am able to expand my awareness through this marvellous journey as an artist.
